Gentlemen:

Through the kindness of the Department of Commerce.
your name among others has been provided me as a dealer
in old coins.

I am enclosing impressions of several coins which have been hoardsakes for many years.
And if they are of value from a collectors standpoint I would like to dispose of them.
Any information you can give me as to their value

2
and feasibility of disposal
will be greatly appreciated

If the impressions are not sufficiently clear to give full details I will be glad to tell all that I can about them.

Very truly yours,

W. S. Hodges, Jr.,

Dear Sir:

Your Bechtler five dollar gold piece is worth about $15.00. Your gold dollars are worth from $1.25 to $1.50 each. Your three other pieces are not coins but charms and are worth what you can get for them. If you care to sell the five dollar gold piece we will give you $15.00 for it but we do not care for the other pieces.

Very truly yours,

HW:JG
